DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions that are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-5, drawn to a prolactin variant.

Group II, claim(s) 6-9, drawn to a nucleic acid encoding the prolactin variant and a host cell comprising the nucleic acid.

Group III, claim 10, drawn to a transgenic animal comprising the nucleic acid sequence encoding the prolactin variant.

Group IV, claim 11, drawn to a therapeutic composition comprising the nucleic acid sequence encoding the prolactin variant.

Group V, claim 12, drawn to a method of treating disease involving PRL- mediated effects using the prolactin variant.

The inventions listed as Groups I-V do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The technical feature common to the groups is a mammalian prolactin variant having a) a mutation in the 14 N-terminal amino acids, wherein said mutation or set of mutations prevents the formation of the disulfide bridge between Cys4 and Cys11 and b) a sterically hindering mutation or set of mutations within binding site 2 of prolactin.

Art Unit: 1632

Adreis (Biochem. J., 1992, Vol. 281, pg 393-400) taught a cleaved prolactin (see abstract, clPRL) having a mutation in position 11 to Thr (see pg 397, Table 1, Fragment A, position 11). The mutation from Cys11 to Thr11 is in the 14 N-terminal amino acids of prolactin. It is also a sterically hindering mutation in binding site 2 because Goffin (J. Bio. Chem., July 12, 1996, Vol. 271, No. 28, 16573-16579) taught binding site 2 involves a few residues of the N terminus. Without evidence to the contrary, amino acid 11 is part of binding site 2. Therefore, the inventions of Groups I-V do not share a special technical feature that contributes over the prior art.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Bernichttein (Endocrine Society 82nd Annual Meeting, Toronto, June 21-24 2000, Abstract 613).

No claim is allowed.
